SEPTEMBER 18TH

In the action-thriller The Condemned, WWE star Stone Cold Steve Austin pushes the fighting spirit to its limit for the ultimate prize: SURVIVAL.

The fierce fighting and brutal match-ups have Maxim so pumped, we want to send one reader (and a friend) to a WWE SmackDown in Tampa. So here's your challenge...

■ PROVE IT!

TRY YOUR HAND AT DESTROYING THIS PAGE. THIS SEEMS LIKE A TYPICAL SHEET OF PAPER. BUT IT'S NOT.

Get going, because we need you to demolish this paper, not sit around making origami. Send us photos, video and/or a written explanation of your most gruesome strategy for attacking this tough paper (without harming yourself) to

CONDEMNED@MAXIM.COM.

Stone Cold will handpick the toughest champ.

(Total e-mail size must be 4 MBs or lower. No zip files accepted.)

■ WIN IT!

One winner and a friend will get two coveted seats at the WWE's SmackDown in Tampa, a sweet hotel stay, round-trip airfare and two copies of The Condemned DVD.

WHAT KIND OF FIGHTER ARE YOU?

■ GLADIATOR

Full of stubborn physical strength, the Gladiator doesn't stop moving forward until he wins or meets his maker. Bare hands are his weapons of choice and he will tear at this paper until it eventually rips.

■ WARRIOR

He too will not give up until he wins; however, he fights with weapons and cunning, not just bare knuckles. To shred this sheet, he might grab a drill or power saw to get the job done. There are many means to success, and all will be explored.

■ LION

The lion also knows how to use the strengths of other creatures to help him win. He may not have the physical attributes to demolish this sheet, but the powerful jaws of a piranha or jackal might do it.

■ NINJA

Deft and clever, he uses his mind and intellectual prowess to succeed. Rather than attack a target directly, he'll use a roundabout method. He looks for a scientific way to win, perhaps by weakening the paper's bonds through freezing or burning.
