WINTERIZE EVERYTHING!

* * *

Lack of sunlight, insane heating bills, and snow-angel-related injuries be damned—the next few frozen months can be your best of the year if you follow our guide to frigid fun. Prepare yourself for the ultimate snow job!

GO FASTER AND LOUDER

You know what's more fun than riding through the snow in a one-horse open sleigh? Tearing shit up on a 151 hp one instead. Ski-doo's MX Z X utilizes all kinds of updates in motor and shock technology to help you scare the holy hell out of hikers and wildlife alike. $10,670, ski-doo.com

WALK THESE PLANKS

The 85-mm-wide chassis on the AC50 skis from Völkl delivers control and speed, whether you're cruising through backcountry powder or plowing over five-year-olds on the bunny hill. $999 (includes Marker bindings), volkl.com

Hit the Best Fests

Outdoor fun that doesn't involve motor skills.

Our pick: Thorablot, Reykjavik, Iceland

During this monthlong shout-out to Thor—Viking god of thunder and metal bands—local joints serve up traditional delicacies like rancid shark, pickled ram testicles, seal flippers, and flagons of the national drink, a vodka-like schnapps called Brennivin (translation: black death). icelandtouristboard.com

Other fests worth freezing your ass off for:

- The Sixth Annual Ski Jam, Steamboat Springs, CO, January 12–17
- Slamdance Film Festival, Park City, UT, January 15–23
- The Polar Bear Jump Off Festival, Seward, AK, January 16–18

Get Sexed on the Slopes

In a Hot Tub

Winter sex in boiling-hot water can be fun if you know what you're doing. "Ask her to float on her back with her arms holding on to the edge," says Yvonne K. Fulbright, author of Touch Me There! "Grab her hips and pull back and forth." Also, water dries her out, so use silicone lubricant. To make it even more pleasurable, ask someone else to do her.

While Snowshoeing

"Take the snowshoes and lay them together for a makeshift bed," explains Fulbright. "You can do it missionary, and you won't sink into the snow." Lay your coat under her butt so it doesn't get frostbitten. If you want to make it a threesome, build a snowlady.

On a Chairlift

When you and your snow bunny are riding up through a secluded stretch, try this: Each of you keeps your snowboard attached to your outer foot and pulls down your respective snow pants. She shim-mies over and, facing forward, hops onto your lap, and thus your pole. Watch for shrinkage.

How to Stay Warm Inside a Polar Bear

Chilly? Join your friend Luke Skywalker inside the carcass of a formerly living beast. It's fun!

1 First, club a baby seal for bait meat. "Rig a heavy chunk of ice connected to a tripwire over the bait, so when it falls it breaks the bear's back," says John Rivet, hunting guide and owner of Great Canadian Adventures.

2 Use your lightsaber—er, hunting knife—to slice through the bear's skin, from his ass to his neck. Then cut through the muscle in his belly, taking care not to slice into the intestinal tract (unless you're into scat).

3 Reach in and cut free his entrails and organs, then yank them out. Drag the carcass as far away as possible. "Wolves will come running at the smell of bear guts," says Rivet. Dive in! Sleep tight, young Skywalker.
